

Einfach anschauen :)

The screenshot shows the Ork.NET forum interface. At the top, a yellow box contains the text: "Was ist denn dann wo? Was wird wo angezeigt? Folge den Pfeilen und denk mit ;)". Below this, the forum header shows the current time (Mi 10. Apr 2013, 21:32), chat status (14 User), and navigation links. The main content area is divided into two sections: "Persönlicher Bereich" (Personal Area) and "Profil von moptodel" (Profile of moptodel). The "Persönlicher Bereich" contains a form for editing the user's profile, with fields for "Wohnort", "Tätigkeit", "Interessen", "Geburtsdatum", "Gruppe", and "Verbund". The "Profil von moptodel" section shows the user's profile information, including their username, group, and a list of interests. A diagram with colored arrows (green, blue, red, purple) illustrates the flow of information from the profile editing form to the profile view and a forum post. The arrows show that the "Wohnort" field is linked to the "Wohnort" field in the profile view, the "Tätigkeit" field is linked to the "Tätigkeit" field, the "Interessen" field is linked to the "Interessen" field, the "Gruppe" field is linked to the "Gruppe" field, and the "Verbund" field is linked to the "Verbund" field. The "Geburtsdatum" field is linked to the "Geburtsdatum" field. The "Posting" section shows a forum post by the user "moptodel" with the title "Re: Forenrmzug 3.0 - Feedback". The post content includes a list of interests and a group name. The diagram shows that the profile information is used to populate the forum post.
